Cruinniú na nÓg invites everyone aged 0–18 to explore their creativity, try something new, and express themselves in ways that feel exciting, playful and empowering. From music, dance, theatre and visual art to storytelling, circus, digital creativity and more, Saturday 6th June will be packed with hands on experiences designed especially for young people. Events take place across Cork City in libraries, parks, cultural spaces and community venues — and everything is completely free! Young people take centre stage as designers, makers, performers and collaborators, guided by professional artists and creative organisations. Come along, get involved, and make it a day to remember!

Some events require booking, so be sure to check the full Cork City programme online at www.corkcity.ie/en/cruinniu-na-nog/

Rebel Teen Social Hive

Alcohol-free Cruinniú Late event for ages 14-18 — designed by young people, featuring live performances, open mic, drag, creative expression and a high-energy teen disco in a welcoming, inclusive space.

South Parish Community Centre, 5pm-10pm

Create with Triskel Arts Centre & Sample Studios

This full-day programme invites 8-12 year olds to get hands-on with filmmaking, music production, textiles, and printmaking, guided by professional artists in workshops designed to spark creativity, build new skills and explore the possibilities of a career in the arts.

Triskel Arts Centre, 10am-5:30pm

Rock the Block

Rock the Block returns for 2026 with a full day of free music-making for young people, featuring performances, songwriting, open mic and jam sessions across genres — from trad and folk to rap, hip-hop, rock and pop.

Cork City Library - Carnegie Courtyard, 1pm-6pm

Circus Céilí

Circus Factory takes over Elizabeth Fort for a full day of free, family-friendly fun for all ages, featuring hands-on circus workshops, live performances, dance, singing and a big Céilí — with a relaxed sensory space available throughout the day.

Elizabeth Fort, 11am-4pm
